Director of Security

SUBJECT : Young President's Organization

STATINTL

REFERENCE : A--Ltr dtd 27 Aug. 76 to [REDACTED]
from Gerald S. Berger, Askin Service Corp.

B--Form 237 dtd 31 Aug. 76 to D/Sec. from
[REDACTED]

TATINTL

1. Attached are forms completed by persons who will attend, with spouses if applicable, a conference of the Young President's Organization to be held in Washington, D.C. from 16 to 19 September 1976.

2. These individuals will visit the Headquarters Building on 17 September for an address by the Director of Central Intelligence.

[REDACTED]

NTL

4. Our records reveal that in March 1970, a member of the Young President's Organization (YPO), informed the Agency that "many of the YPO'ers are ultra-liberals and do not appreciate government interference and harbor a dislike for CIA activities". We have no information in our records to verify this statement.

* Deceased

The Honorable George Bush
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Mr. Bush:

Enclosed is a copy of the AIM Report for October. The entire issue is devoted to Victor Lasky's devastating critique of the Woodward and Bernstein book, The Final Days. I think you will find it of interest.

Accuracy in Media (AIM) has been engaging in combat with inaccurate and biased journalists for the past seven years. We have taken on Woodward and Bernstein previously for their failure to report on the prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in by high officials of the Democratic National Committee and columnist Jack Anderson. We finally got that story into the Washington Post by buying a full page ad to tell it in all its intriguing detail.

In recent months the AIM Report has exposed the New York Times for publication of an article slanted to favor the communist regime in Vietnam under a false name, with no indication that the identity of the author was being concealed. We revealed the author to be an official of the U. N. in Vietnam.

We showed how our tax-supported public television system aired a program on migrant farm workers in Florida that was a propaganda pitch for Cesar Chavez and his United Farm Workers Union. It was actually produced by people active in the Chavez movement!

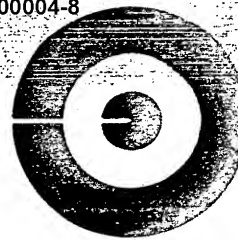

We have shown how CBS has distorted the facts in an effort to persuade the public that industry is largely to blame for cancer. We have taken apart two CBS "documentaries" on the subject of chemicals and cancer.

We showed how the Eastern media downplayed revelations by the Los Angeles Times about campaign expenditures by the Carter campaign that violated the new federal election campaign laws.

You have probably heard about the great work AIM is doing. Why not join us? Contributions to AIM are tax-deductible.

Sincerely yours,

Reed J. Irvine

No. 32

THE WOODSTEIN RIPOFF

By Victor Lasky

We double-checked everything. If we could not get two sources on something, we left it out. And we gave everybody the opportunity to comment. No rumor or gossip was used. Nobody has disputed any fact.

—Bob Woodward, as quoted in U.S. News & World Report,
April 12, 1976

The fact is that the principals described in this book, the sources of information for this book, and those who are making comments about this book all know the accuracy of this account. We stand behind every word of it.

—Carl Bernstein, as quoted in Newsweek, April 12, 1976

The book, of course, is The Final Days, an account purporting to describe in detail what went on in the White House during the fifteen months prior to Richard Nixon's resignation as President of the United States.

According to co-author Woodward, the book "is an accurate account and will stand the test of time."

But, according to John Osborne, "it is on the whole the worst job of nationally noted reporting that I've observed during forty-nine years in the business."

Osborne, who has been "watching" the White House for The New Republic for many years, also took issue with the methodology used in obtaining material for the Woodstein tome.

"In this book," wrote Osborne, "they profess to report only what they've been told by 'at least two people.' That is crap . . . Some of the best stories I've ever gotten were known to one person only, the person who told me. Woodstein must know it's crap. The fact that they persist in the fiction in this book is a sign of insecurity . . ."

Also "crap" is Woodstein's repeated contention that, except for pro forma denials, no one has ever seriously disputed anything reported in The Final Days. This just isn't true. For, as we shall see, numerous individuals have ques-

SOMETHING SPECIAL

The Final Days by Woodward and Bernstein ("Woodstein") commanded the attention of the media with its portrayal of Richard Nixon as a man out of control and its gossip about Mrs. Nixon and intimate family matters. But is it accurate? Victor Lasky, author of J.F.K., The Man and the Myth and the forthcoming book, The Assassination of Richard Nixon, says NO. A friend of many of those who figured in the "Woodstein" book, including the Nixons, Lasky tells why in this devastating critique. We bring it to you with permission of the North American Newspaper Alliance. Extra copies: $1 for one, 50c ea. for 10 or more.

tioned the accuracy of events described by the authors who keep claiming that they checked everything out with at least two sources. And a number of these individuals have said they were never even interviewed by the "dogged duo," as Woodward and Bernstein have been described in The New York Times.

Reading Finch's Mind

A case in point is the page-long description (pp. 255-256) of Robert Finch's visit to San Clemente at the height of the impeachment proceedings. Finch, of course, is an old friend of the President and a former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. As Woodstein described the meeting:

Finch thought that Nixon looked very tired. The President seemed fatalistic about his prospects; there was no hint of what he might do to avoid impeachment. The country had become so consumed by Watergate, Nixon said, that foreign affairs and the economy were being neglected. He could not just abdicate his position of leadership—resign in the face of the unstable world situation.

Finch was struck by the force of the President's words, the conviction behind them. He had arrived thinking that perhaps Nixon wanted to ask him to come back to Washington to help with the defense. But that was not the purpose of the invitation, though Finch was not

Dear Jack,

Thank you for the pictures and the thoughtful letter. I have signed and enclosed the duplicate picture.

I am very pleased to have had the opportunity to be a part of the Association's first annual convention. I hope our paths cross again in the future - maybe on the tennis court.

Sincerely,

George Bush

Dear Mr. Bush,

Your remarks at the Association of Naval Aviation banquet were outstanding and made the event a very memorable one. I know I can speak for each attendee and say how grateful we are to you for taking time from your demanding schedule to join us for our first annual convention.

Naturally I was delighted to be your partner at the tennis tournament and was pleased you were able to carry me to the winners' circle. I have enclosed a few pictures taken at the Virginia Beach Racquet Club that you may enjoy. There is one duplicate picture of you standing between my wife Joyce and myself and if it is not too much trouble I would appreciate your signing it and sending it back to me. It would be a fine memento of a great afternoon.

Once again, my sincere thanks for the support you gave the Association of Naval Aviation. I believe that this group can provide a meaningful voice in making people aware of the past, present and future contributions of naval aviation to our national security.

Sincerely,

John M. Barry

Dear President Demske:

Thank you for inviting me to participate in the William H. Fitzpatrick Lecture Series at Canisius College. I was most honored to be an invitee. Unfortunately, this fall schedule of mine is absolutely unbelievable and I do not think that I can make it in either October or November.

Should rain checks be available, I would like to have one. Possibly I could come up there sometime in 1977 should there be an opening in the schedule.

The honorarium sounds overly generous but you should know that I do not accept honoraria. Thank you for your kind invitation.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ George Bush

Dear Barber:

The attached correspondence is self-explanatory. Do you think this would be a good thing to do provided the guy comes back with a rain check for sometime in 1977?

Warm regards,

Sincerely,

George Bush

Mr. George Bush
 Director, C.I.A.
 Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Bush:

The William H. Fitzpatrick Lecture Series at Canisius College has sponsored several outstanding lectures during the past several years, the first of which was presented by the Honorable Harry S. Truman on March 26, 1962. The enclosure will provide you with more information about the Fitzpatrick series.

On behalf of the Fitzpatrick Committee I am pleased to invite you to deliver a lecture during the Fall of 1976. Would your busy schedule be able to accommodate one of the following dates: October 14, 20, 28, November 9 or 23?

If it would be possible for you to come to Canisius under the aegis of the Fitzpatrick Lecture Series we would attempt to adhere to an agenda which would commence with cocktails and dinner at 5:30 p.m. The committee, officers of the College, and a few selected guests would entertain you at this dinner on campus. The formal lecture to the student body and the general public would be scheduled for 8:00 p.m. A reception would follow to which we would invite people from the community, including those friends and relatives of yours whom you might suggest.

The topic of your speech would be open to your discretion and discussion with us if you so desire. In return for your efforts the committee would gratefully present you with a $1500 honorarium.

I sincerely hope that you will give us an affirmative reply. Since our Auditorium is constantly being sought by other groups on campus for their activities, it is advisable that a date for the Fitzpatrick Chair lecture be established as soon as possible. This being so, it would be greatly appreciated if we might receive your reply by October 8, 1976.

Sincerely yours,

James M. Demske, S.J.
